I am writing to support the proposed ban on adolescent use of flavored vaping products. I am a physician and am intimately aware of the association between tobacco abuse and the well-documented host of medical and psychosocial problems. The onset of tobacco use frequently begins in adolescence.
Vaping products which have been commercially introduced in the past few years have resulted in significant pulmonary complications in teenagers and adults. The prominent use of vaping products has been enhanced by flavored options particularly utilized by minors. Exclusion of flavored vaping products is crucial for health in the adolescent population and prohibition by Council legislation would be strongly recommended.
