On my former bills with the private water company, they always gave us a history of water usage which I found very helpful. Why can't the city offer the same on its monthly billing? My bill went from $42.90 last month to $150.18 this month, a three times jump! So it is helpful for me to see why and that history of usage graph the private company offered was great. Since the city wants to be in the utility business, it had best serve the customer's needs.
