Hi. Instead of local government spending our taxes to buy motels and apartments I suggest that the city/county direct resources to maintaining existing facilities. For example, Parks and Rec is allowing the tennis courts at Playfair and Fort Missoula to deteriorate. To date nothing has been done this year to repair the blistered surfaces and widening cracks, little canyons that are now home to knapweed and locust trees. Parks and Rec is blaming the city council for the deterioration, claiming that you have refused to rebuild these courts, which should have been replaced four years ago. Yet Parks and Rec apparently refuses to spend money earmarked for basic maintenance, maybe hoping that tennis players will simply give up and go away. Whoever is at fault, the situation is crying out for a lawsuit.
