Wouldn't it be great if Missoula could develop a program where multiple businesses could have their deliveries brought by cargo bikes, especially downtown. This could significantly reduce congestion while also cutting pollution. Missoula can be creative when we consider major opportunities that will make our community even more attractive and livable.

Cargo bikes can deliver packages faster than vans—and with less pollution – Montana's Coaster Cycles

Your delivery could come 60% faster by cargo bike instead of a van, cutting down on both congestion and pollution, according to a London-based study.

Seattle's new zero-emissions delivery hub is an experiment in slashing e-commerce emissions with Bonner, Montana's Coaster Cycles

Companies can make centralized deliveries to the hub and then use more sustainable methods to get them to your door. It's a testing ground for experiments to improve our new delivery-based economy.
